

BTCMoon October 2017

Token Overview

With a limited supply of only BTCMoon tokens, this is the most exclusive ERC20 token available anywhere in the world.

BTCMoon is proud to be an ERC20 token, based on the Ethereum network. The ERC20 standard makes tokens easily interchangeable. By following the ERC20 protocol, BTCMoon can be stored and secured in many different wallets, such as MyEtherWallet.com, Parity and others.

Limited supply. In fact, many cryptocurrencies have an unlimited supply.

Most cryptocurrencies have a problem with centralized ownership, where the majority of tokens are owned by a small group of people. While people often point to Bitcoin when this issue comes up, the most obvious example is another coin which have unlimited supply. This company may choose to sell its supply which could crash the coin price at market. BTCMoon was specifically structured in a way to avoid centralized ownership. At creation, all tokens will be available for sale except for 1,000,000 tokens which are held for offering costs. United States of America and Singapore citizen or citizen in which country you are prohibited involving in cryptocurrency strictly prohibited from having/buying this token in all channel.
